To be joyous in sorrow we must look far beyond the sorrow to the rewards awaiting the faithful in glory.

The declining powers of old age may be wonderfully recuperated and sustained by the daily use of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

If benevolence and charity is the spirit of the Gospel, the Gospel has a very little place in some people's hearts.

THE EDITOR'S CHAIR.

HOW THINGS LOOK FROM OUR STAND POINT.

The Opinion of The Editor and the Opinion of Others which we Can Endorse on the Various Topics of the Day.

THE STATE CANVASS.

We regret to see several of the papers expressing themselves in the manner of the following:

We are confronted by a problem of no little difficulty How shall we conduct this canvass? The difficulty arises from the presence of a secret organization whose plans and purposes are hidden from the public, and it is impossible to tell whether the decisive battle of the campaign is to be fought between Democrats and Republicans, or between the Democracy and the Alliance.

We see but one way out of this muddle, and that is to nail the Democratic colors to our mast and regard all as political enemies who do not sail under our flag.—New Berne Journal.

It would be much better for a number of editors and other people to say less unless they knew more than they seem to about the Alliance and the present situation. Whenever the so-called "Democratic colors" do not represent and include the principles of the Alliance, than the party is in a bad condition and needs purging. The work of purification is going on and will continue inevitably, notwithstanding a part of the party is kicking. The once hale, vigorous and sound soldier of Democracy has become a little diseased and is not able to fight successfully the battles that he was wont to do, the physician is applying the remedy and healing him, though against his will. The Alliance is the exponent of pure Democracy in North Carolina and of good government everywhere. We challenge any one to show a single one of the principles of the Alliance that is not just.

Then if any part or faction of the party is not in accord with the Alliance it is best for us to say to them, as Hannible did to the dissatisfied portion of his army on the Alps, "Depart! we will be stronger without you!" The Alliance is purging and purifying the party, it will join the great Northwest and the South into solid phalanx, which solid phalanx will deliver this country from the crushing oppression of the money power of Wall Street. Those who kick against this move know not what they do.

ROBBING THE FARMER.

The gross robbery of the American farmer in the name of protection is shown by the difference in the price of agricultural implements shipped by American manufacturers and sold in South and Central America and the price which the farmer at home is compelled to pay. Senator Vest sent to Buenos Ayres and got a list of prices, the retail prices at which the articles mentioned are sold there, the presumption being that the whole sale prices are considerably less. In his speech on the tariff Senator Vest presented the result of his inquiry as follows:

	Foreign Prices.	Home Prices.
Advance Plow,	$ 9	$18
Hay teddler,	30	45
Mower,	40	65
Horse Rake,	17	25
Cummings' feed cutter, No. 3,	60	90
Ann Arbor cutter, No. 2,	28	40
Cultivator,	22	30

The American farmer might pertinently ask if the protected manufacturer can afford to sell a plow to the South or Central American farmer for $9, why can't he afford to sell the same kind of a plow at home for less than $18? If he can sell a mower down there for $40, why charge $65 for the same kind of a mower here? And so on through the list; and the manufacturer couldn't give him a truthful, satisfactory answer to save his life. There is but one answer and that is that protection gives the manufacturer a monopoly of the home market and enables him to change what he pleases. —Wilmington Star.

If we knew just how much more protection makes us pay on every article we buy thar it is worth, set down the amount and at the end of the year add it up, we would be perfectly astonished to see of how much money we had been robbed to make the manufacturer rich, we could then account for the millions they make in a year.

Mr. McKinley's heart is swollen and sore, and his epiglottis sinks down with a pop, when he sees Mr. Blaine coming. The hand-writing is on the wall in Kansas, in letters six yards high, and not higher than they are thick, and it has been observed by Senator Plumb after the people of that State took him by the nose and turned his eyes in the direction of the awful inscription.

The Railroad Commission of Georgia is dearer and more valuable to the people than any other department of our State Government.—J. S. Candler, Solicitor-General Circuit Court, Georgia.

TAX ON COTTON TIES.

The McKinley Bill Puts a Tax of 103 Per Cent on Them.

In the Senate on last Friday Senator Butler took Senator Aldrich and Republican party to task for this high-handed piece of robbery directed against the Southern farmer. We clip the following from the Congressional Record:

The tariff bill was then taken up, the pending paragraph being hoop band, scroll or other iron or steel, to which Mr. Butler had offered yesterday an amendment (in place of cakes) providing that such hoops used for baling cotton shall not be taxed at the rate of 25 per cent ad valorem (the present rate.) Mr. Butler spoke to his amendment and inquired of Mr. Aldrich as to the rate of duty at which cotton ties were taxed under the bill. He was informed the rate was 1 1-10 cents per pound on hoop, with 2-10 cents additional when cut into lengths for baling purposes, making the rate on cotton ties 1 3-10 cents per pound or 103 per cent ad valorem. He asked Mr. Aldrich whether an increase of the duty had been demanded by anybody.

Mr. Aldrich replied that the increase had been demanded ever since the unjust decision of the Treasury Department that cotton ties were subject to a tax of 35 per cent ad valorem.

Mr. Butler—Then I understand that the increased duty has been put on by the committee at the instance of a few persons engaged in the manufacture of the ties in this country.

Mr. Aldrich—This rate is suggested by the finance committee because the committee believed it to be the proper rate and because it equalizes the rates on ties used for one purpose with those on ties used for another purpose.

Mr. Butler—Then this high tax has been put on cotton ties by the Furnace Company of its own motion without suggestion from a human being.

Mr. Aldrich—As the Senator evidently desires to have it that way, I will not contradict him.

Mr. Butler declared that the proposed duty on cotton ties was nothing more nor less than a deliberate, wanton piece of robbery, and he predicted that if it were carried out, enabling combinations and trusts to put a corner on cotton ties, the farmers of the South would return to the use of rope to bale their cotton.

Further on in the discussion Mr. Butler said that what he complained of was that the proposed tax on cotton ties would be prohibitory, and that a combination would be formed to put up the price. That was the iniquity, enormity, outrage of the bill. He declared that there was nothing farther from his purpose than to injure any manufacturing industry in the United States, but he could not support a proposed increase of duty on ties. It was not broad statesmanship, nor honest, to select one class and bleed it to death in order to enrich another class.

A LETTER FROM CUMBERLAND.

[Editorial Correspondence.]

CEDAR CREEK, N. C., Aug. 6, '90.

MR. EDITOR: As I have seen nothing from Cedar Creek of late in THE CAUCASIAN, I write a few lines.

Crops are fair in this section. They did, at one time, promise to be abundant, but early corn suffered some from the dry weather, and the continuous showers seems to be injuring cotton now, but we hope for pretty fair crops.

Talking politics seems to be the order of the day at present. The nomination of Mr. B. F. Grady for Congress seems to give universal satisfaction. Our county convention comes off next Saturday, the 9th inst., and there is much interest manifested as who shall be the candidates for the various offices, and we do not lack for aspirants. It seems there is no trouble to find plenty of men these days wanting office. I hope the men who will compose that convention will be deliberate and nominate men who are capable, good and true to the people.

I must express my appreciation of the sermon of Dr. B. F. Marable, which I read in THE CAUCASIAN of 31st ult. Never miss a chance of giving us such sermons as that to read in your paper, they will do much good and you deserve much credit for reporting them. I would here were more such sermons preached and reported. That sermon was able and sound to the core.

Little Ella Williamson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolphus Williamson, of McDaniel's township, your county, is visiting friends and relatives at this place, and you are aware that Sampson county is noted for sweet girls, and I assure you she is not an exception to the rule.

Miss Minnie Lawhorn, of Sampson county, has recently spent two weeks at this place, visiting Miss Ida F. Rich. All were delighted with Miss Minnie, but most especially some of the young gentlemen of the neighborhood, who, I think, will soon be visiting in your county. Well, I can't blame them, for she is indeed a charming young lady.

Rev. J. G. Fisher will commence a protracted meeting at Cedar Creek Church on the fourth Sunday night in this month.

Perhaps enough for this time, after saying success to THE CAUCASIAN and three cheers for Mr. Butler for the Senate. (Wish our people up here were in the county so we could vote for him.)

Yours truly,

Mc.

It is said that the Star-eyed Goddess looks seventeen years younger than she did before Secretary Blaine wrote his reciprocity letter.

Dr. Sheldon's Enormous Fee.

What is believed to be the largest fee ever paid to a physician in a single case was paid by J. H. Flagler, one of the Standard Oil kings, to Dr. G. C. Sheldon. A dearly beloved daughter of Mr. Flagler, who afterward died while cruising on a yacht in Southern waters about a year ago, was lingering between life and death. There were not more than two or three chances out of a hundred that she would ever be able to leave her bed alive. The devoted father announced that if Dr. Sheldon could relieve the suffering in his child and aid her in recovering he would give him the largest fee that was ever paid a physician. Miss Flagler rallied and finally was able to leave her bed, and in the course of time was sufficiently strong to drive out. The young heiress to several millions lived to enjoy her great wealth for a long time after this, and Dr. Sheldon was presented with $250,000 worth of stock in the Standard Oil Company.

JOHN BOYLE O'REILLY DEAD.

Sudden Passing Away of the Irish Poet and Editor.

John Boyle O'Reilly, the poet and editor of the Boston Pilot, died suddenly of heart failure at his summer residence in Hull, Mass., about 4 o'clock Sunday morning. Saturday he was at his desk in the Pilot office apparently in the best of health. Saturday evening his brother in law, John R. Murphy, was at Mr. O'Reilly's house in Hull, and when at 10.30 o'clock, he returned to the Hotel Pemberton, where he is stopping, Mr. O'Reilly accompanied him.

During Mr. O'Reilly's absence his wife, who is an invalid, retired. She awoke between 2 and 3 o'clock, and, noticing that her husband had not retired, stepped into the sitting room, where she found him, apparently asleep, in an easy chair, with one hand resting on a table near an open book and in the other hand a partly smoked cigar.

She was unable to arouse him, and medical aid was summoned, but all efforts to resuscitate him were in vain. Mr. O'Reilly has been a sufferer from an affection of the heart for several years and for some time past has been afflicted with insomnia. One report is that an overdose of chloral taken to produce sleep was the immediate cause of his death. Mrs. O'Reilly has been an invalid for years, and is completely prostrated by her bereavement. The body of Mr. O'Reilly was conveyed to his late winter home in Charlestown.

Tobacco as a Remedy.

A nut pick, a pointed ice chipper, and other instruments of the sort sometimes inflict ugly wounds. A bit of tobacco works wonders for small flesh wounds of this sort. Thoroughly wet and bound on directly it charms away soreness, prevents all annoyance and saves thumb or finger even from needing to be done up in the usual bit of white rag longer than over night.—[Boston Transcript.

A series of stirring contests between American and English amateur athletes is promised in meetings for which arrangements are now in progress by the Manhattan Athletic Club, of New York.

Further and more serious trouble has broken out among the members of the army service corps at Chatham. A number of sets of harness were hacked to pieces. Three of the leaders of the mutiny have deserted.

Refugees at Libertad, Salvador, from Gautamela continue to bring news of the revolutionary state of the capital of that country. It is said that Barillas has gone on to Quesecatenango, his native city, to assume personal control.

Governor Warren, of Wyoming, is lying dangerously ill with congestion of the brain. His sickness seriously upsets political calculations on his part. He was to have been placed at the head of the ticket to be nominated there Monday.

A party of Italians employed in the brick yard of Messrs. Washburn Bros., at Glasgow, N. Y., engaged in a dance in the rear of a saloon Sunday night. Near midnight a quarrel ensued in which knives, stilettos, and pistols were freely used. One of the men was killed and another fatally wounded. Four of the Italians engaged in the affray have made their escape. Coroner Kemble will hold an inquest.

A lawyer from Stillwater, Oklahoma, named Nathan Block disappeared a week ago, after committing several forgeries on firms in Guthrie, and detectives have since been looking for him. Saturday he was recognized by an officer at Edmunds. He was dressed as a tramp. The officer called upon him to surrender. Block ran away. The officer pursued him and fired several shots, one of which took effect in Block's foot. At this juncture Block drew his pistol, the weapon was discharged, and Block fell dead in the street. It is not known whether he shot himself purposely or accidental. He was from Buffalo, N. Y., and belonged to a prominent family there.

THE NEW YORK CENTRAL STRIKE.

Threats That All the Roads Will Be Tied Up.

The strike on the New York Central Railroad, which began on Friday night last, still continues, and has extended the whole length of the line to Buffalo. It has produced a serious state of affairs for Eastern travelers and shippers throughout the whole country. Sunday's development was the threat made by the Knights of Labor leaders to tie up every railroad running out of New York because Vice President Webb refused to discuss or arbitrate the matter. Affairs were quiet in New York city, but at Syracuse a mob held the yards in spite of the militia, and were not dislodged until evening. The passenger service was generally resumed, although subject to long delays.

Men have been secured to take the places of many of the striking yard and train men, but with indifferent results. The regular schedule of passenger trains was run on Sunday, with a delay of from one to four hours, and the Western trains were bunched. On the West Shore the passenger traffic was run with slight delay from lack of switchmen. No attempt was made by the railroad company to move its freight cars in the yards in and adjacent to New York, but they gave notice that an attempt would be made to start the freight traffic Monday, and the police will guard the new employees. In Albany the freight will be moved on Tuesday. At Buffalo the freight was unmoved, but passenger traffic was sent East and West.

General Master Workman Powderly knows nothing officially of the strike. He has informed a reporter that the whole thing "is purely in the hands of the local district until they ask for assistance. Then the General Executive Board must pass on the matter." The General Executive Board meets in Detroit this week, where some action may be taken.

Nothing developed Monday or Tuesday. Mr. Depew was not heard from up to date. The engineers and firemen did not strike as was expected. The engineers say the Knights of Labor went back on them in the Burlington and Quincy strike and now they do not feel disposed to help the Knights. The New York Central freight yards are glutted with 2,000 freight cars. Few trains are on time and many are laid off altogether. At Syracuse a mob of strikers seized the freight yards Sunday and for 48 hours were in possession, although troops were called out to dislodge them. Governor Hill promised all State aid possible to protect the property of the road. The New York Central officials keep their courage up, but the road is badly crippled.

Storm on Long Island Sound.

A most terrific thunder storm swept Long Island Sound Sunday afternoon, and created havoc along the shore. The storm was preceded by wind and accompanied by rain and hail. At Thimble Island trees were uprooted and the windows of the cottages blown in. Hail stones as large as walnuts fell for half an hour. The steamer Margaret, with 300 excursionists on board, was caught in the storm just off the Crawford Beacon, and there was a panic on board. When the storm came upon her the captain headed the boat out into the sound. Women clung to men or dropped to the wet deck and prayed for deliverance. In the midst of the storm a catboat containing Captain Knowles, of Short Beach, was run down and stove in. From all the east shore as far as New London reports of a terrific storm are received. Trees were prostrated and windows of dwellings blown in. Crops, especially corn and tobacco, in southern and southeastern Connecticut are ruined.

Balloon Caught Fire.

In making an ascent at Columbus, Ohio, Professor Walker Steele, the parachute jumper, discovered his balloon to be on fire just as it was set free. He leaped on the roof of a tall building over which he was passing at the time, falling 25 feet. Aside from being slightly cut and bruised he was not injured.

Dr. Lessage is in a precarious state of health, and it is feared he will not long survive.

CONVENTIONS, 1890.

STATE CONVENTION

Is held at Raleigh, on Wednesday, August 20th.

The State Convention meets at Raleigh next Wednesday.

The prospect for a fine crop in this State were never better. The seasons have been propitious; the farmers have done their duty and they are happy. If no unforseen disaster happens, there will be "good old times," when the corn ripens, the tobacco yellows and the cotton whitens.

Ninety per cent of the people of Georgia are in sympathy with the commission, its objects and aims, and any man who would, seek to injure it would get but one Legislative opportunity,

Instead of bringing or tending to bring on the evils of social negro equality, it has effectually erected barriers to it in railroad travel that can never be broken down or "burned away." The negroes ride in separate cars furnished for them by order of the railroad commission.—J. S. Candler, Solicitor-General Circuit Court, Ga.

In last issue we said the Farmers' Alliance would like to know whether the Messenger was a friend or a foe. The editor of that paper took the above inquiry for his text and waded out into a two column editorial, presumably to prove that the paper was a friend. But so much indirection was used that after reading the editorial we are worse at a loss to know the paper's position than before. The The demands of the Order are referred to as "new shibboleths of doubtful expediency" that will split the party and inevitably lead to defeat. Right here we would like to ask the Messenger are not the demands of the Alliance just? Then how can just demands split the party unless a part of the party is opposed to justice.

If it is, then let that part split off, the quicker the better. In this State the Alliance is now and will remain the backbone of the party and by being organized will be able to strengthen, purify and elevate the party, and if any faction kicks against this movement, in the interest of good government, and wishes to split, then to that faction we will say "a gentle riddance"

CUMBERLAND COUNTY CONVENTION.

Sutton and McGill Renominated, Resolutions Passed Instructing Them to vote and Work for a Railroad Commission.

At the county Democratic convention held here to-day, John G. Shaw was elected permanent chairman, and Z. W. Whitehead, of the Fayetteville Observer, secretary. The following ticket was nominated: For the House, Thos. H. Sutton, and A. D. McGill; Sheriff, J. B. Smith; Clerk Superior Court, C. G. Cain; Register of Deeds, H. L. Hall; Treasurer, J. B. Troy.

A resolution instructing the members of the General Assembly to vote for and use all honorable and legitimate means for the establishment of a railroad commission was adopted.

FOWLE ON THE ENCAMPMENT.

Governor Fowle is highly pleased with the Wrightsville encampment and is loud in his praise of our soldier boys of the State Guard. He is strongly in favor of and will recommend a more efficient support by the State of its militia. He thinks the encampment should be at least a month in duration with every means of instruction available. That it should be maintained at no expense whatever to the military individually and that if this can be done then will our military become thoroughly efficient in time of need for the protection of life and property.—Raleigh Correspondent Wilmington Messenger.

Alliance Department.

ALLIANCE NOTES, DISCUSSIONS AND THE DOINGS OF THE VARIOUS LODGES.

State Alliance.

The State Alliance met in Asheville on last Tuesday. The body is composed of delegates, one from each county Alliance. We will give our readers in next issue an account of the transactions of the body.

Clinton Alliance.

Our lodge has decided to have the officers elect installed publicly and has requested our able County Lecturer, Mr. Marion Butler to perform the ceremony and to deliver a public lecture for us at the same time. Mr. Butler was requested to fix the date, but being pressed for time he has been unable as yet to say when he could perform that duty for us.

THUNDER SWAMP ALLIANCE, No. 444, met in call session this July 30, 1890, and unanimously passed the following preamble and resolutions:

That in Zeb. B. Vance our people have always found a true and faithful servant, one whom we believe hath always stood up honestly for his people, either in war or in peace; and further we do not think that he can be bribed or influenced by gain: and while it is human to err, we may consider ourselves entitled to a just criticism, but an unjust and unwise counsel will but weaken our own ranks and raise enemies from the outside, who are to-day faithful allies to our principles, for these reasons we resolve

That in our Senator Vance our people have always had a faithful leader, a wise counselor, and a brave defender, and a man whom we believe would rather die for his people, than see any part of them enslaved by monopolies. National banks or any other class of combines; and we further resolve that we will stand by Z. B. Vance and ask our next Legislature to again elect him U. S. Senator, provided we see no further failure to duty.

D. E. STEVENS, Pres't.
L. W. PARKER, Sec'y.

An Important Measure.

The Sub-Treasury bill is an important measure. I have endeavored in two communications to show that it is both constitutional and expedient. I believe, that if it is the will of the Democratic party, that the bill be passed, that Senator Vance can do more to secure its passage than any other man in the State. His opinion, now, that it is unconstitutional and inexpedient, will not, if he becomes convinced otherwise, prevent his giving the measure his most earnest support, if it is the will of his party that he shall do so. I have often heard that Senator Vance previously believed in the "protection" idea; but now there is no abler and bolder advocate, of "a tariff for revenue only" policy, than he, in the United States. He of all men, it seems to me, has most completely freed himself from the glamour the friends of protection have thrown around their peculiar doctrine.

I had almost come to the conclusion that the currency question had assumed proportions of equal importance with the tariff question, but one fact that I gleaned from the census report, has served to impress me again with the idea that all other questions sink into insignificence in the presence of this all-important question of tariff reform.

The only excuse that can possibly be offered in behalf of the "protection tariff," is, that it is necessary to sustain home manufacturers against foreign competition and that it builds up a home market for agricultural products. Let us see then how this fact, which we do not remember to have seen stated before, bears upon this contention. Massachusetts, it would seem, ought to be a good State in which to test the working of the system. In Massachusetts in 1870, according to the report, as given in the American Cyclopedia, the capital invested in manufactures was $231,977,682. The value of the material used was $334,413,982. The amount paid for wages was $118,051,886, making the whole invested in plant, material and wages $684, 143, 550. The annual product was $553,912,568, or nearly five sixths of the entire capital invested in. The amount invested in farms was $116,432, 782. In farm implements $5,000,876. The amount paid for wages and board of farm laborers was $5,861,032, making the entire capital invested in farms, farm implements and labor $127,254,695. The annual product of the farms was $32,192, 374, or not quite ⅓ of the amount invested in farm industries.

Now, is it fair, is it just, is it endurable, that a class of people who realize only one-fourth on the amount invested in their business, should be taxed and burdened for the benefit of a class who realize 5-6 on the capital invested in their business?—W. C. Monroe, in State Chronicle.

Cotton Stalk Bagging.
(Special Correspondent.)

Last spring it was stated that a Mr. Jackson, of Augusta, Ga., had perfected mechanical appliances for manufacturing cotton bagging from cotton stalks, and had returned from New York with a roll of bagging. Expert cotton men reported that it was in every respect equal to cotton bagging. He utilized the bare stalks, and stated also that an annual stalk yield would take a three years' cotton crop. That the machinery comprised heavily weighted corrugated rollers, with vats of running water, carding machines and bagging looms. It was estimated that in making bagging from cotton stalks, $2,000,000 annually will go into the farmers' pockets for what is now cleared from the land or ploughed in the soil. This is written to enquire if there is any such machinery in operation, and, Mr. Editor, some of your Alliance exchanges or any newspaper operating in the farmers' interest may be able to volunteer the necessary information. The time has arrived when the farmer is wide awake and desires to know his best interests, or that, which will compensate him for the least manual labor. He and the poor toiler is beset on every side by no common foes, some are getting his hard earnings for a great deal less than "value received," while nature often operates against him by drought or flood or hog cholera.

May an enlightened press furnish the "headlights" to a perfect consummation of peace, equal rights, and freedom and independence to all. C.

A Looming Power.

The Farmers' Alliance is attracting more attention now from the politicians of both parties than any other organization in this country, and the reason is that the Alliance is becoming a factor in politics, at present of unknown quantity, but sufficient potent to command attention. The Alliance is of Texas origin. It was not contemplated in the organization that it would enter the political arena any further than that the members would support for office those men who took the most interest in the farmer and would be most apt to use their influence in whatever position they might be called to relieve the distress of the farmer and redress his grievances by the necessary legislation, when legislation might contribute to this end.

This was natural, and is just what every other industry in the country has been doing for years and is still doing. There is no just cause for complaint in this against the farmers whether they belong to the Alliance or whether they don't, for it is as much their right to look after their interests in or out of the halls of State, as it is of any other industry, and it is rather a cause of congratulation than of deprecation that the farmers of the country are taking more interest in the politics of the country, and in the men who are elected to office than they had heretofore been in the habit of doing.

Had the farmers of the country twenty-five years ago given more attention to politics than they did this country would not have been subjected to the domination of the set of political tricksters and mounte-banks who for all that time and a little longer have been "theorizing" and while doing so, driving the farmer to ruin and heaping burdens upon the people such as were never heaped upon any people on the face of the earth.—Wil. Star.

Plundering Multitudes.

The organization of the Alliance over the West and South sprang from the creation of trusts. Farmers, like other working men, were compelled to organize against law created organizations of capital. "Protection" compels the taxed to protect themselves against taxation levied and enforced without constitutional right. The Alliances and labor unions are only organizations of the taxed against the untaxed, of the many and the poor against the few and the monopolists, just now, not only of wealth, but of power. Democracy's banner is the flag under which all these organizations of toilers and taxed and plundered multitudes enter a conflict involving the life or death of the "Republic." Absolute unity in political action of all these popular associations, whether of farmers or mechanics, is indespensible to triumph in the coming conflict between corruption and greed of power and gold, organized by Quay and Reed and McKinley on the one had, and the masses of the common people on the other, whose confessed leader and proper exponent and representative is Grover Cleveland.—Goldsboro Argus.

[Cleveland is alright on the tariff, but we are afraid to trust his financial policy.—ED.]

The declining powers of old age may be wonderfully recuperated and sustained by the daily use of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Our Farmers' Column.

SOMETHING INTERESTING TO THOSE WHO TILL THE SOIL.

"There is no material progress that is well based and permanent without agricultural progress."

A rush of progress is crowding upon us, the old fogy must go. As the stage coach was crowded out by the railroad, so will the slow ignorant farmers be crowded out by progressive farmers, who are reading agricultural papers and informing themselves. The day has gone by to do "as daddy did." The slow past with its crude methods are now left behind and in the future the farmer will be as much interested in the common destiny of this country as any other of the citizens of America. —Southern Farmer.

What Farm. s Should Raise.

It is accredited to Ben. Wade, saying the farmers should raise more cotton and less "sheol." Well they are doing their utmost to raise all of the former article of commerce and with a favorable season the prospect is now cheering. If farmers could select good and able men to represent them, men who will work in interest to represent the agricultural masses as well as other professions, with an eye single to their duty, then the aforesaid gentleman and others who have ground down the poor toiler with an iron like grasp may have sufficient cause to know the farmer is insisting on his rights, and that justice shall be done to all, and that their oppressors can, and may have all the "sheol in theirs" that nature intended for them.

If we are forced to raise some of Wade's articles let it be raised at the ballot box by letting the slogan ring loud, long and clear from Maine to Texas in a double bass voice down with trusts, combines and unjust monopoly. Much success to you and the just principles you are advocating so fearless. C.

Dobbersville Notes.

Mr. Editor, I see in your last week paper, a card from Mr. J. Bryan as a candidate for the office of sheriff. We wonder, why Mr. Bryan has not come out before now for some office, for he is a christian gentleman well qualified for any office of the county. He was reared in Piney Grove township until he was 17 years old, then he was carried off to the war to fight for his country, where he received a wound that disabled him for manual labor. He is a true alliance man and a gentleman in every respect.

In short we endorse Bryan, Hobbs and Weeks and by all means give us Marion Butler for the Senate. He is true, able and energitic and we can trust him.

Crops are fine, though cotton is damaged some by rain.

Much success to THE CAUCASIAN. V.

Blood Poison

Is very liable to follow contact of the hands or face with what is known as poison ivy, especially in hot weather or if the body is perspiring freely. The trouble may subside for a time, only to appear in aggravated powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla thoroughly eradicate every trace of poison from the blood, as the cures it has accomplished conclusively show. It also cures scrofula, salt rheum and all other affections arising from impure blood.

From the Twin City Daily we learn that some time ago the Danville Register offered a prize of $10 for the best letter by a wife giving instructions how to make a good husband. The prize was awarded to Mrs. A.M. Aiken, of Danville. It contains a hundred words: The following is the letter:

Have love, faith and charity for the foundation of married life. Study his disposition, and try to conform yours to it Remember, a soft answer turns away wrath. Bear each others short comings with patience. Tolerate infirmities. Be faithful through poverty and disgrace. Love his mother; use hospitality and kindness to his friends. Never live beyond his income. Be pious, sincere and cheerful. Industrious; making his home attractive, his table satisfactory, and his clothes in good condition. Make him know by your constancy and daily attention, that he fills your eye and heart. As an example to him, love and fear God.

"Don't Care to Eat."

It is with the greatest confidence that Hood's Sarsaparilla is recommended for loss of appetite, indigestion, sick headache, and similar troubles. This medicine gently tones the stomach, assists digestion, and makes one "real hungry." Persons in delicate health, after taking Hood's Sarsaparilla a few days, find themselves longing for and eating the plainest food with unexpected relish.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

WHAT IS SCROFULA

It is that impurity in the blood, which, accumulating in the glands of the neck, produces unsightly lumps or swellings; which causes painful running sores on the arms, hands, or feet; which developes ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or the many other manifestations usually ascribed to "humors;" which, fastening upon the lungs, causes consumption and death. Being the most ancient, it is the most general of all diseases or affections, for very few persons are entirely free from it.

How Can It Be CURED

By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the remarkable cures it has accomplished, often when other medicines have failed, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. Some of these cures are really wonderful. If you suffer from scrofula, be sure to try Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"My daughter Mary was afflicted with scrofulous sore neck from the time she was 22 months old till she became six years of age. Lumps formed in her neck, and one of them after growing to the size of a pigeon's egg, became a running sore for over three years. We gave her Hood's Sarsaparilla, when the lump and all indications of scrofula entirely disappeared, and now she seems to be a healthy child." J. S. CARLILE, Nauright, N. J.

CONVENTIONS, 1890.

STATE CONVENTION

Is held at Raleigh, on Wednesday, August 20th.

The State Convention meets at Raleigh next Wednesday.

The prospect for a fine crop in this State were never better. The seasons have been propitious; the farmers have done their duty and they are happy. If no unforseen disaster happens, there will be "good old times," when the corn ripens, the tobacco yellows and the cotton whitens.

Ninety per cent of the people of Georgia are in sympathy with the commission, its objects and aims, and any man who would, seek to injure it would get but one Legislative opportunity,

Instead of bringing or tending to bring on the evils of social negro equality, it has effectually erected barriers to it in railroad travel that can never be broken down or "burned away." The negroes ride in separate cars furnished for them by order of the railroad commission.—J. S. Candler, Solicitor-General Circuit Court, Ga.

In last issue we said the Farmers' Alliance would like to know whether the Messenger was a friend or a foe. The editor of that paper took the above inquiry for his text and waded out into a two column editorial, presumably to prove that the paper was a friend. But so much indirection was used that after reading the editorial we are worse at a loss to know the paper's position than before. The The demands of the Order are referred to as "new shibboleths of doubtful expediency" that will split the party and inevitably lead to defeat. Right here we would like to ask the Messenger are not the demands of the Alliance just? Then how can just demands split the party unless a part of the party is opposed to justice.

If it is, then let that part split off, the quicker the better. In this State the Alliance is now and will remain the backbone of the party and by being organized will be able to strengthen, purify and elevate the party, and if any faction kicks against this movement, in the interest of good government, and wishes to split, then to that faction we will say "a gentle riddance"

CUMBERLAND COUNTY CONVENTION.

Sutton and McGill Renominated, Resolutions Passed Instructing Them to vote and Work for a Railroad Commission.

At the county Democratic convention held here to-day, John G. Shaw was elected permanent chairman, and Z. W. Whitehead, of the Fayetteville Observer, secretary. The following ticket was nominated: For the House, Thos. H. Sutton, and A. D. McGill; Sheriff, J. B. Smith; Clerk Superior Court, C. G. Cain; Register of Deeds, H. L. Hall; Treasurer, J. B. Troy.

A resolution instructing the members of the General Assembly to vote for and use all honorable and legitimate means for the establishment of a railroad commission was adopted.

FOWLE ON THE ENCAMPMENT.

Governor Fowle is highly pleased with the Wrightsville encampment and is loud in his praise of our soldier boys of the State Guard. He is strongly in favor of and will recommend a more efficient support by the State of its militia. He thinks the encampment should be at least a month in duration with every means of instruction available. That it should be maintained at no expense whatever to the military individually and that if this can be done then will our military become thoroughly efficient in time of need for the protection of life and property.—Raleigh Correspondent Wilmington Messenger.

Alliance Department.

ALLIANCE NOTES, DISCUSSIONS AND THE DOINGS OF THE VARIOUS LODGES.

State Alliance.

The State Alliance met in Asheville on last Tuesday. The body is composed of delegates, one from each county Alliance. We will give our readers in next issue an account of the transactions of the body.

Clinton Alliance.

Our lodge has decided to have the officers elect installed publicly and has requested our able County Lecturer, Mr. Marion Butler to perform the ceremony and to deliver a public lecture for us at the same time. Mr. Butler was requested to fix the date, but being pressed for time he has been unable as yet to say when he could perform that duty for us.

THUNDER SWAMP ALLIANCE, No. 444, met in call session this July 30, 1890, and unanimously passed the following preamble and resolutions:

That in Zeb. B. Vance our people have always found a true and faithful servant, one whom we believe hath always stood up honestly for his people, either in war or in peace; and further we do not think that he can be bribed or influenced by gain: and while it is human to err, we may consider ourselves entitled to a just criticism, but an unjust and unwise counsel will but weaken our own ranks and raise enemies from the outside, who are to-day faithful allies to our principles, for these reasons we resolve

That in our Senator Vance our people have always had a faithful leader, a wise counselor, and a brave defender, and a man whom we believe would rather die for his people, than see any part of them enslaved by monopolies. National banks or any other class of combines; and we further resolve that we will stand by Z. B. Vance and ask our next Legislature to again elect him U. S. Senator, provided we see no further failure to duty.

D. E. STEVENS, Pres't.
L. W. PARKER, Sec'y.

An Important Measure.

The Sub-Treasury bill is an important measure. I have endeavored in two communications to show that it is both constitutional and expedient. I believe, that if it is the will of the Democratic party, that the bill be passed, that Senator Vance can do more to secure its passage than any other man in the State. His opinion, now, that it is unconstitutional and inexpedient, will not, if he becomes convinced otherwise, prevent his giving the measure his most earnest support, if it is the will of his party that he shall do so. I have often heard that Senator Vance previously believed in the "protection" idea; but now there is no abler and bolder advocate, of "a tariff for revenue only" policy, than he, in the United States. He of all men, it seems to me, has most completely freed himself from the glamour the friends of protection have thrown around their peculiar doctrine.

I had almost come to the conclusion that the currency question had assumed proportions of equal importance with the tariff question, but one fact that I gleaned from the census report, has served to impress me again with the idea that all other questions sink into insignificence in the presence of this all-important question of tariff reform.

The only excuse that can possibly be offered in behalf of the "protection tariff," is, that it is necessary to sustain home manufacturers against foreign competition and that it builds up a home market for agricultural products. Let us see then how this fact, which we do not remember to have seen stated before, bears upon this contention. Massachusetts, it would seem, ought to be a good State in which to test the working of the system. In Massachusetts in 1870, according to the report, as given in the American Cyclopedia, the capital invested in manufactures was $231,977,682. The value of the material used was $334,413,982. The amount paid for wages was $118,051,886, making the whole invested in plant, material and wages $684, 143, 550. The annual product was $553,912,568, or nearly five sixths of the entire capital invested in. The amount invested in farms was $116,432, 783. In farm implements $5.-000,876. The amount paid for wages and board of farm laborers was $5,861,032, making the entire capital invested in farms, farm implements and labor $127,254,695. The annual product of the farms was $32,192, 374, or not quite ¼ of the amount invested in farm industries.

Now, is it fair, is it just, is it endurable, that a class of people who realize only one-fourth on the amount invested in their business, should be taxed and burdened for the benefit of a class who realize 5-6 on the capital invested in their business?—W. C. Monroe, in State Chronicle.

Cotton Stalk Bagging.
(Special Correspondent.)

Last spring it was stated that a Mr. Jackson, of Augusta, Ga., had perfected mechanical appliances for manufacturing cotton bagging from cotton stalks, and had returned from New York with a roll of bagging. Expert cotton men reported that it was in every respect equal to cotton bagging. He utilized the bare stalks, and stated also that an annual stalk yield would bale a three years' cotton crop. That the machinery comprised heavily weighted corrugated rollers, with vats of running water, carding machines and bagging looms. It was estimated that in making bagging from cotton stalks, $2,-000,000 annually will go into the farmers' pockets for what is now cleared from the land or ploughed in the soil. This is written to enquire if there is any such machinery in operation, and, Mr. Editor, some of your Alliance exchanges or any newspaper operating in the farmers' interest may be able to volunteer the necessary information. The time has arrived when the farmer is wide awake and desires to know his best interests, or that, which will compensate him for the least manual labor. He and the poor toiler is beset on every side by no common foes, some are getting his hard earnings for a great deal less than "value received," while nature often operates against him by drought or flood or hog cholera.

* * * * * *

May an enlightened press furnish the "headlights" to a perfect consummation of peace, equal rights, and freedom and independence to all. C.

A Looming Power.

The Farmers' Alliance is attracting more attention now from the politicians of both parties than any other organization in this country, and the reason is that the Alliance is becoming a factor in politics, at present of unknown quantity, but sufficient potent to command attention. The Alliance is of Texas origin. It was not contemplated in the organization that it would enter the political arena any further than that the members would support for office those men who took the most interest in the farmer and would be most apt to use their influence in whatever position they might be called to relieve the distress of the farmer and redress his grievances by the necessary legislation, when legislation might contribute to this end.

This was natural, and is just what every other industry in the country has been doing for years and is still doing. There is no just cause for complaint in this against the farmers whether they belong to the Alliance or whether they don't, for it is as much their right to look after their interests in or out of the halls of State, as it is of any other industry, and it is rather a cause of congratulation than of deprecation that the farmers of the country are taking more interest in the politics of the country, and in the men who are elected to office than they had heretofore been in the habit of doing.

Had the farmers of the country twenty-five years ago given more attention to politics than they did this country would not have been subjected to the domination of the set of political tricksters and mounte-banks who for all that time and a little longer have been "theorizing" and while doing so, driving the farmer to ruin and heaping burdens upon the people such as were never heaped upon any people on the face of the earth.—Wil. Star.

Plundering Multitudes.

The organization of the Alliance over the West and South sprang from the creation of trusts. Farmers, like other working men, were compelled to organize against law created organizations of capital. "Protection" compels the taxed to protect themselves against taxation levied and enforced without constitutional right. The Alliances and labor unions are only organizations of the taxed against the untaxed, of the many and the poor against the few and the monopolists, just now, not only of wealth, but of power. Democracy's banner is the flag under which all these organizations of toilers and taxed and plundered multitudes enter a conflict involving the life or death of the "Republic." Absolute unity in political action of all these popular associations, whether of farmers or mechanics, is indespensible to triumph in the coming conflict between corruption and greed of power and gold, organized by Quay and Reed and McKinley on the one had, and the masses of the common people on the other, whose confessed leader and proper exponent and representative is Grover Cleveland.—Goldsboro Argus.

[Cleveland is alright on the tariff, but we are afraid to trust his financial policy.—ED.]

The declining powers of old age may be wonderfully recuperated and sustained by the daily use of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Our Farmers' Column.

SOMETHING INTERESTING TO THOSE WHO TILL THE SOIL.

"There is no material progress that is well based and permanent without agricultural progress."

A rush of progress is crowding upon us, the old fogy must go. As the stage coach was crowded out by the railroad, so will the slow ignorant farmers be crowded out by progressive farmers, who are reading agricultural papers and informing themselves. The day has gone by to do "as daddy did." The slow past with its crude methods are now left behind and in the future the farmer will be as much interested in the common destiny of this country as any other of the citizens of America. —Southern Farmer.

What Farmers Should Raise.

It is accredited to Ben. Wade, saying the farmers should raise more cotton and less "sheol." Well they are doing their utmost to raise all of the former article of commerce and with a favorable season the prospect is now cheering. If farmers could select good and able men to represent them, men who will work in interest to represent the agricultural masses as well as other professions, with an eye single to their duty, then the aforesaid gentleman and others who have ground down the poor toiler with an iron like grasp may have sufficient cause to know the farmer is insisting on his rights, and that justice shall be done to all, and that their oppressors can, and may have all the "sheol in theirs" that nature intended for them.

If we are forced to raise some of Wade's articles let it be raised at the ballot box by letting the slogan ring loud, long and clear from Maine to Texas in a double bass voice down with trusts, combines and unjust monopoly. Much success to you and the just principles you are advocating so fearless. C.

Dobbersville Notes.

Mr. Editor, I see in your last week paper, a card from Mr. J. Bryan as a candidate for the office of sheriff. We wonder, why Mr. Bryan has not come out before now for some office, for he is a christian gentleman well qualified for any office of the county. He was reared in Piney Grove township until he was 17 years old, then he was carried off to the war to fight for his country, where he received a wound that disabled him for manual labor. He is a true alliance man and a gentleman in every respect.

In short we endorse Bryan, Hobbs and Weeks and by all means give us Marion Butler for the Senate. He is true, able and energitic and we can trust him.

Crops are fine, though cotton is damaged some by rain.

Much success to THE CAUCASIAN. V.

Blood Poison

Is very liable to follow contact of the hands or face with what is known as poison ivy, especially in hot weather or if the body is perspiring freely. The trouble may subside for a time, only to appear in aggravated powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla thoroughly eradicate every trace of poison from the blood, as the cures it has accomplished conclusively show. It also cures scrofula, salt rheum and all other affections arising from impure blood.

From the Twin City Daily we learn that some time ago the Danville Register offered a prize of $10 for the best letter by a wife giving instructions how to make a good husband. The prize was awarded to Mrs. A.M. Aiken, of Danville. It contains a hundred words: The following is the letter:

Have love, faith and charity for the foundation of married life. Study his disposition, and try to conform yours to it Remember, a soft answer turns away wrath. Bear each others short comings with patience. Tolerate infirmities. Be faithful through poverty and disgrace. Love his mother; use hospitality and kindness to his friends. Never live beyond his income. Be pious, sincere and cheerful. Industrious; making his home attractive, his table satisfactory, and his clothes in good condition. Make him know by your constancy and daily attention, that he fills your eye and heart. As an example to him, love and fear God.

"Don't Care to Eat."

It is with the greatest confidence that Hood's Sarsaparilla is recommended for loss of appetite, indigestion, sick headache, and similar troubles. This medicine gently tones the stomach, assists digestion, and makes one "real hungry." Persons in delicate health, after taking Hood's Sarsaparilla a few days, find themselves longing for and eating the plainest food with unexpected relish.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

WHAT IS SCROFULA

It is that impurity in the blood, which, accumulating in the glands of the neck, produces unsightly lumps or swellings; which causes painful running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which developes ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or the many other manifestations usually ascribed to "humors;" which, fastening upon the lungs, causes consumption and death. Being the most ancient, it is the most general of all diseases or affections, for very few persons are entirely free from it.

How Can It Be CURED

By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the remarkable cures it has accomplished, often when other medicines have failed, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. Some of these cures are really wonderful. If you suffer from scrofula, be sure to try Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"My daughter Mary was afflicted with scrofulous sore neck from the time she was 2 months old till she became six years of age. Lumps formed in her neck, and one of them after growing to the size of a pigeon's egg, became a running sore for over three years. We gave her Hood's Sarsaparilla, when the lump and all indications of scrofula entirely disappeared, and now she seems to be a healthy child." J. S. CARLILE, Nauright, N. J.

—The Sampson Light Infantry returned from Camp Latimer on Tuesday. Every member of the company was delighted with his stay at the camp, but none more than the handsome and soldiery captain, Wm. A. Johnson. He said that there was scarcely a thing to mar the pleasure of the trip and that he was proud of his company; and well he has a right to be for while at Wrightsville last week we heard nearly every one, not only the public generally, but the higher officers of the State Guard were complimenting the Sampson boys for their soldierly bearing and skill in military tactics. Sergeant Hatchler, of the U. S. Army, in charge of the Artillery said that there was no better company in the State Guard than the Sampson Light Infantry.

—At Wilmington last week we saw our townsman, Mr. W. H. Stetson, standing in the depot of the W. & W. Railroad, looking with much interest and curiosity at the scene around him. He watched the many trains moving in and out of the station and to and fro in the freight yard below. Next his eyes turned towards the busy factories, steam compresses and other evidences of progress and development on every side. He turned to us and said he was astonished at the mighty changes, that he could remember when the place where we now stand was unbroken woods. At that time there was not a single railroad running to Wilmington and the place was a small slow going town. We walked down the street, he eyed closely the many handsome stores, the elegant Orton House and the magnificent public building, just opposite, and said that it was all new and mightly changed, that there was nothing to remind him of the Wilmington that was. We soon took the train to Wrightsville. On the way we asked how long since he had seen that place. He said 50 years, and proceeded to describe it to us as it then was. If we had the space to paint the picture of these two places, described by Mr. Stetson as they appeared 50 years ago, it would show an interesting and striking contrast.

New Registration.

Under the Election Law as passed by the General Assembly of 1889, a new registration is necessary before the next election. The County Commissioners in session Monday appointed the following registrars for the respective townships of Sampson:

REGISTRARS:

North Clinton—David Marshburn.
South Clinton—B. S. Peterson.
McDaniels—Frank Parker.
Lisbon—A. M. Blackburn.

The law requires the Commissioners to publish an official order for such registration, giving thirty days notice. The principal changes made by the new law are:

1st. That the registration books shall be closed on the second Saturday before the election.

2d. No registration shall be valid unless it specifies as near as may be the age, occupation, place of birth and place of residence of the elector, as well as the township or county from whence the elector has removed—in the event of a removal—and the full name by which the voter is known.

3rd. Is the option given the Judges of the election to rail off a polling place, with two openings for entrance, and exit respectively, allowing only one voter to enter at a time, etc., etc.

Church Statistics.

In the United States there are 151,261 church buildings, 103,300 preachers, and 22,000,000 nominal members. The increase for 1889, was 8,500 buildings, 4,900 preachers, and 1,090,000 members. The Methodists lead with 4,980,000 members. The Roman Catholics have 4,676,000 communicants and 8,277,000 population. The Methodist population is nearly 20,000,000. The other denominations have as follows, according to the statistics of 1889:

Baptists, 4,292,000; Presbyterians, 1,229,000; Lutherans, 1,086,000; Congregationalists, 491,000, and Episcopalians, 480,000.

Autryville Notes.

There is some politics stirring in in these parts, but we have more turpeutine here in a day than we have politics in a month, and since that is composed of somewhat more sticky substance we we suppose we'll continue to stick to it, or rather let it stick to us, and let politics slip. Since we have mentioned turpentine we wish to say that Capt. Autry has a novel way of shipping his spirits. He has a large tank, the holding capacity is over six thousand gallons. It seems to be quite a curiosity to all who visit Autryville, as it is the first one ever filled in this part of the country. The spirits is carried from a metal lined trough into the tank by means of a large pump.

Our old friend, Mr. W. R. King, one of Clinton's enterprising merchants, was in Autryville last week. We were glad to see him, and, by the way, we understand that he is a candidate for the nomination for the office of sheriff of Sampson county.

The S. S. Conference of the Sampson circuit will convene at Andrew's Chapel on Friday, October 2nd, 1890. All members of the Conference are requested to meet promptly at 10 o'clock a. m. Each Sunday School is entitled to one delegate to every ten members. J. D. O. Culbreth, president, L. M. White, secretary.

Mrs. Capt. J. L. Autry spent last week in Autryville, while the Captain was at the same time spending some days in Wilmington.

Work on the Baptist Church at this place is progressing, and when completed will be a handsome building indeed. There will also be, at no distant day, an academy under course of construction. Autryville is on its second boom.

Duplin Items.

(Special Correspondence.)

Court lasted only two days. A friend remarked that the Alliance would eventually break up the courts.

Duplin is certainly indebted to you for kind words in regard to Grady.

Yes, make the Messenger say whether it is for or against the Alliance. I like your bold and manly way of expressing your sentiments.

Our State County Institute will be in session the week after Sampson's. Prof. Joyner will conduct it.

The "Zeb Vance" meeting was entirely satisfactory to his many friends in this county. About two hundred were present.

Prof. Grady delivered his maiden speech at Beulahville in this county last Friday. There was a re-union of old veterans. About fifty-three were in line. Capt. Kenan made a splendid speech and Prof. Grady followed with one of his short, pointed speeches, and closed by saying that he would give them a long one when he came around on the campaign. It was the most orderly crowd I ever saw at a picnic. About 250 or 300 in attendance. Everybody seemed to enjoy the music, speeches and sumptuous dinner. That part of Duplin is rapidly coming to the front. No drinking was allowed, but every body indulged in watermelons.

The people down at Wallace were greatly disappointed that Mr. Marion Butler could not accept their invitation and speak for them on the first instant. They say hurrah for Butler in the brave fight he is making on behalf of the people for the Railroad Commission, only regret that they are not in Sampson so they could vote to sustain him and endorse his course. X.

Lightning's Havoc.

During the severe thunder storm on last Sunday afternoon lightning struck in four or five places within the corporate limits of the town The greatest damage was to the Baptist Church. The steeple was shattered, the bolt passing down into the church building, splitting one of the columns, passing out over the floor, ripping up the carpet down the isle and passing through the floor, making a hole like that caused by a bullet. The extent of the damage cannot be ascertained until the work of repair commences. On Thursday one of the chimneys of Mr. F. T. Atkin's new residence was struck, broken and cracked during a thunder storm.

A HANDSOME CAPTAIN.

A Fine Company.

Capt. W. A. Johnson, of the Sampson Light Infantry, is one of the handsomest and most distinguished looking officers in the State Guard. He is to be congratulated upon being at the head of one of the finest of all the companies, too.—Wilmington Messenger.

FRANKLIN.

The political pot is boiling.

The Railroad is a great convenience to us. At Kerr's and Tomahawk we find two important stations; some dwelling houses and stores have also been erected.

The longest name in the township: Annie Eliza Maria Louisa Sarah Francenia Cromartie. J.

Mr. Editor: As Franklin seems to be somewhat neglected by your correspondents I will give you a few items.

Crops are the best that we have seen them in a dozen years. Our people are in good heart and are reading with pleasure what has been said on the Railroad Commission and other matters in your excellent paper.

We have some sickness in our township as there has been in all others.

This writer has heard some exciting news that will be heard from later.

Mrs. Iler Bland, Mrs. Mary Orr and her little daughter, left yesterday for Wilmington, to spend several days with relatives and friends.

I heartily congratulate The Caucasian and its editor upon the fact that it is the people's paper and one of the best in the State.

Plow Boy.

Mr. A. S. Colwell, of Wallace, died on last Monday. He has been helpless for ten years with a severe chronic attack of rheumatism. He has suffered enough to kill a whole regiment of men, but he bore up under it bravely.

MINGO.

Mr. Editor: In reply to your correspondent of last week the old woman has again turned her cup and says "the gist of the whole Railroad survey from Burgaw to Dunn is a farce. It is intended solely to—well, everybody knows. They have commenced in a shape to run corner-wise across the whole county, the longest line that could have been drawn in order to come near the largest portion of the people. It has been intimated to a great many persons, I understand, on the route that there will be a depot at, or near their door, (each man's door.) The love of money has damaged this country. We honor you for the noble fight you are making on behalf of the people.

Truly, &c., Mingo.

Mr. Editor—Our farmers are tearing off the fodder from the stalk.

The recent rains have damaged cotton very badly in the light lands, causing it to drop its leaves and forms.

There is some typhoid fever in this section.

Mr. Lee Parker, of Midway, Ala., accompanied by his sister, Miss Mattie, are visiting the family of Mr. W. A. Bell,

Mr. M. D. Lee, one of our farmers, told me he had a small stalk of cotton with one hundred grown bolls of cotton.

The schools taught by the young teachers, Messrs. Bell and Barefoot, near each other, are in flourishing condition. They are within four hundred yards of each other, and they number thirty-three and thirty-six respectively. It is said "competition is the life of things.

The effort to hatch up a sentiment throw Mr. Marion Butler overboard has completely failed in this section. We say three cheers for the man who has had the manhood to stand up and battle for the right. We will nominate him and vindicate his manly course.

DISMAL.

Died, August the 2d, 1890, Mrs. Noflette Jackson. The deceased had been a consistent member of the Baptist Church from early womanhood, and bore her long and painful illness with Christian fortitude and died in full faith. She left a large circle of relatives and friends to mourn their loss.

NEWTON GROVE.

A large majority of our people are in favor of a Railroad Commission after hearing the speaking on last Saturday.

Miss Ida Ashford spent the past week with Miss Vara Benton. Hope she will pay Newton Grove another visit soon.

Miss Bettie Westbrook returned last week from an extended visit to her sister, near Keener's.

Crops in this section were damaged some by the heavy rains.

Miss Annie Rose, of Wayne county, is visiting Miss Addie West.

Mr. Boykin is doing excellent work at his singing school. Flos.

Farmers are well pleased with their fine crops. When we meet a farmer in this township and ask him how his crop is he says: "My corn is as good as I could ask for, and my cotton is better than my corn." Their crops, take them as a whole, are much better than they have been in several years.

Mr. L. M. Boykin taught a singing class at Canaan Baptist church not long since, and is now teaching one at Newton Grove Methodist E. Church.

We know not who will get the nomination for the Senate in this county, but let him be a man who will say on the stump I am going to vote for Z. B. Vance for U. S. Senator. Vance rather deserves that office than any other man that might be put before the public. He is one that we should love. Why? because he works for the farmer. We have never known him to try to do anything that would really injure the farming class. He has done and will do much good for North Carolina. Let us all go overhanded for Vance.

Us.

Miss Mary Monk has returned from a visit of several weeks to Wilmington and Wrightsville.

There is cotton opened ready for picking in this township.

One of the best speeches we have heard in a long time was delivered by Mr. Marion Butler, the County Lecturer, on August first at Salem. We can't see how any good citizen can fail to be with the Alliance after hearing it. He also installed the officers elect of Salem Lodge in an impressive manner after the ritual of the Order.

TAYLOR'S BRIDGE.

Mr. Edgar Knowles was killed on last Saturday. He was crushed between two sticks of timber while rafting. He was about twenty-nine years of age and leaves a wife and two children, the chief mourners of a sad death. He was a good neighbor, and kind husband, and a hard-working and industrious man. He was a true Alliance man, and was buried with the burial service of the order.

LISBON.

At the depot the other day over a hundred of our young people had assembled to take the excursion train, but lo, she passes by and leaves us all.

Mr. J. C. D. Herring is at home on a visit from Thomasville, Ga., where he has been for some time.

Crops are splendid, and the farmers are encouraged.

Rev. T. M. Leary assisted Pastor Sandling in a meeting at Lisbon last week. The meeting closed on Friday with no additions to the Church. The preaching, however, was very good, and the membership is benefitted. J.

Mr. Nehemiah Herring died on last Saturday. He was one of our oldest and most respected citizens.

LITTLE COHARIE.

The lumber industry of Roseboro is quite an item. Mr. C. M. Roberts has his mill running at full capacity with from eight to twelve hands at work. Mr. A. M. Butler if also doing a good business with his mill.

The will of Mr. Alvin was broken last Monday by the recent heavy rains.

Mr. A. F. Howard will be married to Miss Lillie Turlington this morning at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. E. T. Turlington.

A CARD.

(Published by Request.)

Jackson once said, "To the victors belongs the spoils," and often has it been practiced, with few exceptions, in American politics. If a man obeys the political requests of his constituents, is it not the duty of those constituents to stay by him in the highest reign of political ambition and aspiration? If you have political honors to confer on a man, why not give them to one that has been tried and found ready to comply with every request made by his party? Such a character we find in W. E. Stevens, of North Clinton township. Two terms we have sent him to the lower branch of the Legislature to represent us, and in every vote he has proven worthy of the honor and trust conferred on him by his county. When the vote was taken on the Railroad Commission he voted for it, as his people wished. He was appointed chairman of the committee on counties, cities, towns and townships, and he was also a member of the committees on corporations, public printing and election laws, giving him a position above the average legislator. Just after his arrival at Raleigh a farmers' caucus was organized, with forty-six members, and he was appointed one of three to see that no legislation hostile to the farmer should be enacted. Mr. Stevens is a farmer with a record untarnished by any political stain, for in every instance he has looked after the interest of his people. Why not send him to the Senate? for certainly we can't get a more worthy man, or one better able to fill the position. Such a man as he is we need, for there is not enough money in North Carolina to get him to turn against his honest convictions. Why not take him and preserve the democracy of "Old Sampson?" Voter.

WILL YOU SUFFER WITH DYSPEPSIA and Liver Complaint? Shiloh's Vitalizer is guaranteed to cure you. For sale by R. H. Holliday, Druggist, Clinton, and W. P. Kennedy, Warsaw, N. C.

WHO IS THE MAN?

Mr. Editor. The convention is likely to be held soon, and it is the duty of the people to inquire into the fitness of the various candidates that we may select good and competent men for the different positions. It seems that the principal contest is over the Senate. It appears that those who oppose a railroad commission will favor the nomination of Mr. Kerr. Now I desire to say a word to those who favor a commission. We are convinced that the people of North Carolina needs a commission. We are bound to have protection against all classes of monopolies. We are opposed to sending attorneys for corporations to make laws for us. We have grown poor under laws passed by such men.

The discussion between Mess. Kerr and Butler, all good men deplore. It is unfortunate, but it could not have been avoided. Mr. Kerr announced his intention to canvass the county in defense of his record made in the last legislature, and in opposition to the railroad commission bill.

He wrote several letters to Mr. Butler, inviting him to a joint discussion of the commission. Should Mr. Butler have declined to meet him on the stump? He would thereby have stultified himself before the people of Sampson county, and the election of Kerr and the defeat of the commission bill would have been assured. We all know what plausible and captivating speeches are made by Mr. Kerr, and had they remained unanswered the people would again have been duped by an agent of monopoly, and the great county of Sampson would have declared against a commission and E. W. Kerr would again have stood in the Senate of North Carolina to thwart the will of the people, and to serve the monopolies and great moneyed powers of the land.

But Marion Butler, like the true man, and true democrat that he is, did not decline the invitation of Mr. Kerr. He understands the relative condition of the railroads and the people, and he realizes the necessity, for a commission, and so sacrificing his personal interest, his time, talent and money, and subjecting himself to the severest criticism he has successfully met Mr. Kerr upon the hustings of Sampson county. He has answered every argument of Mr. Kerr, not to advance his own interest but to serve the best interest of the people.

Now ye friends of a railroad commission let us rally around the standard of Marion Butler, and nominate him for the Senate, and he will give us the most rousing canvass and lead the democratic party to the grandest victory ever scored in old Sampson.

"To the victor belongs the spoils, let him who wins the spurs wear them."

Marion Butler has stood by the interest of the people. He has been their friend. He has worked when work was needed. He has fought a good fight, and won a good victory, let him be rewarded and continue the fight for the people in the halls of Legislation. Now Mr. Editor, there is no one we can send who is truer to our interests or better able to depend and advocate them so don't allow your natural modesty to induce you to throw this in the waste basket you have several communications similar to this, but in all fairness and justice to yourself and the people, let this be published.

The friends of other candidates are advocating their claims through the columns of your paper and it is but right that your friends be accorded the same poor privilege.

A Voter.

[The writer of the above is a little mistaken in one point. Mr. Kerr challenged Mr. Butler to meet him at Clinton only. Since that time he has been invited by the people to meet Mr. Kerr at his various appointments. We would throw this communication in the waste basket as we have others were it not for other communications appearing in this issue reflecting upon us.—Ed.]

Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy.

Goldsboro, N. C., Oct. 23, '89.

Mrs. Joe Person—Dear Madam—About April, 1887, I treated Sam Privett for Scrofula affecting the glands of the neck. I had done for him all that could, and considered his chances for life very small and told him so, and that if you would benefit him with your Remedy, I would give you a certificate of the fact. That you have done your part the boy is now a living witness, and I shall not hesitate to furnish your Remedy in any similar cases I may be called upon to treat. I am very truly, Thos. Hill, M. D.

His Son Cured.

Mr. W. H. Hinman, a prominent and influential citizen of Mount Vernon, Illinois, writes as follows, under date of March 11, 1890: "One bottle of Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) cured my son permanently of a stubborn case of Blood Poison that defied the best medical treatment available. I have recommended S. S. S. to others for blood troubles and diseases of the skin, and have never known it to fail to cure in any case.

Blood Poison Cured.

I was troubled for years with a Blood Poison in its very worst form. I was treated by the very best physicians of Louisville, Ky., and Evansville, Ind., but they failed to benefit me in any way. A few bottles of Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) cured me sound and well. This was over four years ago, and there has been no return of the disease since, or any symptoms of it. I have recommended it to others for blood poison, and in every case they were permanently cured." D. H. Kain,
Mount Vernon, Ill.

To the Democratic Voters.

The election is near at hand. It becomes the duty of every good man to express his choice of officers.

I am one voter who believes in rewarding the faithful. It is not necessary for a man to canvass the county two months before the Convention in order to fill a position, and prove to the people his fitness; nor do we think that is the proper way to promote the best interest of the Democratic party in Sampson county. We need to nominate a man who will harmonize the bitter strife now in the party, one on whom all can centre and carry a solid Democratic vote. We have such a man. You have tried Wm. E. Stevens and always found him faithful and true to the best interest of the people. I therefore think he should be the nominee of the party for Senator. We have twice sent him to the House of Representatives. He is in the line of promotion and should be sent to the Senate.

We have as good county officers as can be selected. Why not reward the faithful?

THE FARMERS' ALLIANCE AND THE FINANCIAL REFORM.

(By an Outsider.)

"Reforms begin in the belly," said a blunt old philosopher. The farmers as a class have most sorely felt the contraction of the currency—famine of money. Their organization has come forward with the most definite remedies. The Democratic party, as a party, had paid too little attention to the money reform until this agitation was commenced. The farmers ought certainly now to take the lead in their own measure and nominate the man who is to advocate it in the National Assembly, and the leaders of the party ought to be wise enough to gladly accept any candidate strongest with them. Any passing prejudice against other classes in sympathy with them is a mere skin disease—looks bad, but there is nothing in it—any warfare with classes and corporations not in sympathy with them is constitutional and has come to stay. People may take sides "as their interest may appear." Ordinarily it is best to have men learned in the laws to make laws—though the sentiment of every class of citizens ought to be represented in every law making assembly. Every lawyer in full sympathy with this financial reform is anxious for the farmers to rush on and butt their heads against the same wall they have been trying to push down. As soon as they recover from their freshman enthusiasm they will be anxious to get all the help they can and will be in a fit frame of mind to choose their real friends in whatsoever class they be found.

I sometimes hear criticisms among the most thoughtful of our citizens upon the Alliance that it is a class organization and therefore opposed to the genius of our institutions. But the abstract question does not appear to be now before us. The interests of this class have been viciously attacked by another class. The issue has been made upon them—in common of course with many others—but they are the first and the worse hit. But the party worshipper cries, "Is not the party sufficient?" Parties are intended to represent the interests of the people—when the interests of a particular class are seriously affected, they must adopt the most effectual means to have them redressed.

We have been taught that reforms ought to go on inside the party. They take us at our word and go in and control the party, being in the majority. We will have to submit gracefully or go back on our plan of organization.

The party is sufficient when it bravely leads a needed reform.

The party is sufficient when it speedily answers the complaints of the people.

The party is sufficient when it nominates the best representatives of the most vital issues.

A party is sufficient when its representatives in convention are chosen with respect to the main issue and not with respect to persons.

The farmers are now severely hampered by difficulties.

(1). They are not able to send their representatives to convention.

(2). They are divided on a question of spoils. The slime of this serpent has been trailed inside as well as outside the Alliance.

(3). Their best men are not always in the lead.

(4). Side eddies of fools who are bubbling out small minds of class hatred are sometimes mistaken for the main current of their great reforms.

Men and organizations, at some period of their existence, need to go through great trials to bring out their characteristics and show what spirit they are of. This organization has yet had no crucial test, no soul trying fire. Hence they do not know their leaders yet, or many of them, and what is almost as bad they do not know their auxilliaries outside.

J. W. PEELE.

A HAPPY HOME.

The first year of married life is a most important era in the history of man and wife. Generally; as it is spent, so is almost all subsequent existence. The wife and the husband assimilate their views and their desires, or else, conjuring up their prejudices and animosities forever afterwards.

I have somewhere read, says the Rev. Mr. Wise, in his Bridal Greetings, of a bridegroom who gloried in his eccentricities. He requested his bride to accompany him into the garden, a day or two after their wedding. He then drew a line over the roof of their cottage. Giving his wife one end of it, he retreated to the other side, and exclaimed:

"Pull the line!"

She pulled at his request, so far as she could.

"Pull it over!"

"I can't," she replied.

"But pull with all your might!" still shouted the whimsical husband.

But vain were all the efforts of the bride to pull over the line so long as her huspand held the opposite end. But when he came round and they pulled at the same end, it came over with great ease.

"There!" as the line fell from the roof, "you see haw hard and ineffectual was our labor when we both pulled in opposition to each other; but how easy and pleasant it was when we both pulled together! It will be so with us in life!"

In this illustration, homely as it may be, there is a sound philosophy. Husband and wife must mutually bear and concede, if they wish to make home a retreat of joy and bliss. One alone cannot make home happy. There needs be union of action, sweetness of spirit and great forbearance and love in both husband and wife, to secure the great end of happiness in the domestic circle. Home is no unmixed paradise of sweets; the elements of peace and true happiness are there, and so too are the elements of discord and misery; and it needs only the bitter spirit of the world without to make it a pandemonium, or the loving genius of harmony to make it the prompter of every affectionate impulse.—Selected.

The true spirit of the Sabbath appointment is, not that we should condense the religion of the week into the Sabbath, but that we should carry forth from the Sabbath its hallowed impulses and feelings into the other days of the week, to elevate and sustain us amid its wearisome secularities and depressing cares. The Lord has given us the Sabbath, not to relieve us of our religion, but so to revive our religion on that day as to impel its healthy tide into the remotest nook and corner of every day duty.—Dr. Andrew Thomas.
